AACC faculty developed the following charts to encourage greater success in your program of study. Why take classes in this order? The courses in the first column are designed to prepare you for courses in the second column and so on. Students with no developmental requirements in English or reading may register for a total of 18 credits per term. If you are a part-time student, you may take fewer credits by dividing the recommended courses across multiple terms to accommodate your schedule.

Students wishing to major in Communications after transferring should select a combination of four 3-credit courses within the COM designator.

1. Successful completion of ENG-121 fully satisfies the English composition general education requirement.
2. Students may satisfy the computer competency requirement simultaneously with their computer technology requirement. Students who have otherwise demonstrated competence in computing and information technology must select a general education mathematics course, a general education computer technology course or a general education interdisciplinary course.
3. It is recommended that students wishing to major more specifically in Mass Communications (including journalism or broadcasting) give particular consideration to specialized courses such as COM-101, COM-102 and the Journalism Practicum. Because the Communications curriculum at four-year institutions can vary considerably from one school to the next, it is strongly recommended that students consult with their transfer institution to determine which courses are most suitable for their particular program of study.
4. No more than 3 credits of physical activity courses may be used as electives.

Note: Minimum of 60 credit hours required for degree.
Where course choices exist within programs, transfer students should consult with an advisor and use transfer resources to make course choices consistent with the requirements of their intended transfer school.
